"Believing that in many instances assistant postmasters are now inadequately compensated, we advocate a greater elasticity in determining such compensation, to the end that in such cases suitable recognition of valuable service may be made. We heartly approve of their inclusion within the classified compositive service by the President as recommended by the Postmaster-General in the furtherance of their policy of placing the departments on a modern commercial basis, and we express the hope that with the remainder of the fourth-class postmasters those of the second and third classes may shortly be brought under the operation of the civil service laws.

ringe When Man Passes Fifty.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Washington, D. C., September 20.

"Marriage is simply a business proposition after a man passes the age of fifty years. There's no love thee," declared Fred Greenwood, a seventy-three-year-old Norfolk widower, when he applied at the courthouse for a liceuse to marry Mrs. Rena F. Crowell, thirty-seven years old, who lives at Earlyville, Va.

"I need a companion; that's why I am getting married in my old age," declared Greenwood. "I am well fixed, and can support a wife in right good style, so what's the use of being lonely. I chose Mrs. Crowell hecause she is comparatively young, and I have known her since she was knee high to a grasshopper.

since she was knee high to a grass-hopper.

"There is a hig difference between love and a kind regard or esteem for a woman," continued the old man. "Love is the proper hasis for young men to get married on, but an old fellow always gets humped on the rocks when he imagines he is in love. Let men past 4fty marry for companionship sake and young men marry for love, and the world will be happier."

Mr. Greenwood and Mrs. Crowell were married last evening by the Reports of Unrest.

Boston. Mass., September 29.—Reports of unrest in China have been received recently at the headquarters here of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

The unrest in China, in the beiler of the American board officials, is the result of a newly-awakened national feeling among the Chinese people. The slogan of an ever-increasing element, "China for the Chinese," has been heard throughout the empire, and the anti-foreign feeling is not directed against the missionaries as Christians, but rather because they are foreigners. The American board's mission stations in China are divided among three districts—Foochow, South China and North China.

Trade Report.

Trade Report.

Bradstreet's to-morrow will say for Richmond and vidinity:

Trade conditions, taken as a whole, show improvement as the fall season approaches, and indications are favorable for a good late fall trade in most lines. However, the high prices of practically all staple commodities have a deterrent effect on orders for future delivery in as large quantities as is customary. Dry goods and shoes are fairly active. Produce is in good demand. Naval stores are firm at recomprevailing prices. Tobacco is being marketed in larger quantities in North Carolina, and prices are well to the average of recent years. In North Carolina the cotton crops are being marketed at prices ranging up to 14 cents. The quantily is good, and unless early frost or rains injure the later plantings an average crop is expected in this State. The old crop has been well used up, and mills report oblers as satisfactory as could be expected considering the high prices, made necessary by the increased cost of raw material. The peanut crop is reported good both in North Carolina and Virginia. Collections continue slow in most lines. Retail trade shows some improvement with the approach of cooler weather.
